JEWELRY Spring 2017

We have created a spring assortment of new, beautifully crafted collections inspired by our natural surroundings.

The Forager collection is hand cast from local flora collected near our studio in Northern California and finished with a traditional hammering technique that adds texture and dimension. Sculptural twigs, leaves and pods become shiny brass pendants, some accented with lustrous peacock pearls.

Naturally occurring Tabasco geodes in our Lyric collection are selected for their fine crystal cavities and cheerful, pastel colors. Each geode is framed by hand-worked brass, and no two pieces are alike. Tiny, natural zircons that rival diamonds in brilliance accent the bezels.

Effortlessly stylish stars and moons are hand cut in brass and interspersed on delicate chains to create a playful collection of necklaces that beg to be layered. Shoulder-sweeping Shooting Star earrings are made with dainty chains for graceful movement, and tiny post earrings can be mixed and matched.

New accessories include three new handbag collections, ranging from casual woven totes and pouches to supple leather handbags and clutches, that are elegant yet perfect for every day.

We hope our new offerings add beauty and shine to your spring season!

Blue Apatite Jewelry

Blue apatite in a lovely peacock blue color with flecks of aqua, brown and sage green is cut into light-catching faceted beads and strung on chocolate brown silk cord. One knotted necklace combines brass faceted beads with the apatite beads, the other long strand is made with all apatite beads; both have brass button closures. The faceted apatite bead bracelet is strung on silk cord with an adjustable closure. Our apatite ring is made from a flat square chunk of apatite that is left natural on top, curved and polished on the bottom, and set onto a tab-sided polished brass band.

Modern Tribal Collection

Unusual teardrop-shaped metal beads with an antique brass finish are strung with simple curved brass beads on brown cotton cord for a bracelet and necklace with ball bead and loop closures. A long necklace is fashioned from multiple strands of metal beads with antique brass and dark oxidized brass finishes. These are strung as single color strands and mixed braided strands. See pages 60–61 for other Modern Tribal pieces.

Chrysocolla Pendant Necklace & Chain Tassel Earrings

Known for its amorphous character and striking color, chrysocolla is a peacock blue mineral with attractive blue-green, deep green and earth-toned veins that are formed by varying mineral deposits in the stone. A pendant made from a round polished piece of chrysocolla set into a shiny brass bezel hangs from a long brass chain paired with a chocolate brown leather cord. Dangling tassel earrings are made from brass chain; gold-plated brass ear wires.

Moon & Stars Jewelry

The moon and stars are aglow in warm brass and intertwined with rhodium-plated brass chains the color of the deep night sky in our Moon & Stars jewelry. A pair of post earrings and a pendant necklace with rhodium brass chain feature cast brass crescent moons. A large crescent hangs from a long length of rhodium brass chain on a necklace meant for layering. Two necklaces pair the moon and stars — a Y-style version symbolizing phases of the moon, the other with a small crescent moon amid four stars. A matching bracelet and necklace intersperse stars and lengths of rhodium brass chain like stars trailing across the night sky, and are complemented by our Shooting Star Earrings with their cascading lengths of chain. Petite brass post earrings in the star and crescent moon shapes come in a case pack of three each of the two designs. Post earrings have sterling silver posts; dangling earrings have sterling silver ear wires.

Danburite & Brass Jewelry

Danburite is a lesser known mineral that is similar to quartz in appearance. Our clear, whitish and lightly pink-toned stones originate in Mexico, though this variety of stone was named for Danbury, Connecticut where it was originally found. The brilliant natural crystals are set in brass stirrup and ring settings. The pendant necklace has a brass chain, stirrup and ring settings. The pendant necklace has a brass chain; earrings have gold-plated brass ear wires. Curved flat brass bar melded with brass link chain form a complementary choker with magnetic closure.

Lina Mixed Metal Collection

Our lovely Lina Collection of jewelry renders pretty, delicate shapes in mixed metals. Small post-style hoop earrings, larger size ovoid shape hoops and a curved square-shaped ring are made from sterling silver that is fused with brass for contrast. A pair of over-sized dangling brass hoops has a silver and brass stick suspended from a silver ring. A silver-plated bar is suspended from a brass chain on a double bracelet. A necklace with vertical and horizontal silver-plated bars on long lengths of brass chain is meant to be doubled for a layered look. The Lina Ring comes in a case pack of two each of sizes 6, 7 and 8.

The pinecone pendant is embedded with a pair of zircons and the cuff with one zircon for a bit of added sparkle.

Our Figur collection of "hoop" style earrings is fashioned by hand into cool, figural shapes from hammered wire. Each pair is eye-catching, lightweight and fun to wear. Gold-filled wire, wire that is made from 14k gold mixed with other metals for color stability and longevity of wear, is bent into twist, loop and swirl shapes. The same shapes are also available in sterling silver wire. Mixed metal earrings have gold-filled wire bent into unusual geometric oval, angle and round shapes with carefully soldered sterling silver centers and ear wires. Diamond, hexagon and "Big G" shape hoops are formed from sterling silver wire, gold fill versions of these shapes are not shown.

Brass Quill post earrings, long dangle earrings and a ring are handmade from brass. The post earrings have sterling silver posts; dangle earrings have gold-plated brass ear wires. ### Marguerite Baroque Pearl Collection

Baroque pearls take up to six years to form inside an oyster, with a pearl developing more of its coveted luster over time. The highly wearable Marguerite Baroque Pearl Collection is made with creamy white cultured baroque pearls that are carefully selected for their unusual, irregular shape and radiant sheen. We combine the pearls with warm-toned, high-copper brass. A lissome lariat necklace flaunts a large lustrous pearl. Single pearls are suspended from small brass hoops in unique post earrings. ### Herkimer Crystal Collection

Sparkling quartz crystals, also known as Herkimer Diamonds, have naturally beautiful facets and exceptional clarity. Our eclectic Herkimer Crystal Collection shows off these magical stones in a variety of unusual ways. A single brilliant stone is the centerpiece of a delicate bangle. Myriad sizes of Herkimer stones are knotted on gray silk cord with a button closure on a long necklace. A diminutive glass vial is filled with tiny Herkimer Diamonds and adorned with a hand-ground amethyst crystal bottle stopper and a brass chain. A pair of lariats mixes Herkimers with crystal points — one loops the lariat through a small geode slice while the other loops through a brass clip.

Tiny faceted beads are set like seeds in golden pods to create pretty earrings and necklaces. Our pyrite peapod pieces are set with the sparkly dark pyrite stones known as Fool's Gold; a second version features faceted labradorite beads with their magical blue light-catching iridescence. A third style is set with silverite — a term for pastel sapphire gems fused with a shimmering metal oxide creating a diamond-like luster. ### Mystic Stone Collection

Lovely gemstones with an ethereal iridescence are the result of stones that are charged in the presence of rare metals, creating a durable lustrous finish. Our Mystic Stone Collection highlights silverite, a gem created from pastel sapphires that, when specially treated, resemble champagne diamonds. Dangling earrings feature a faceted golden rutile coin surrounded by tiny faceted white and gray silverite beads. A long, shapely, faceted briolette silverite stone with a grouping of teensy brass faceted beads is the centerpiece of a pair of earrings and pendant necklace. A faceted dove gray silverite choker draws the eye and begs to be layered with other pieces. Another layering piece, a long brass chain necklace with a lobster clasp for doubling, is strung with gray silverite and a medley of lustrous little mystic gems.

Faceted Square Gemstone Collection

Petite, precisely faceted gemstones are joined with gold vermeil in this delightful grouping. The chains, ear wires and other gold fittings on bracelets and earrings are all vermeil — sterling silver that is plated with gold. Choose a simple drop earring style, or a threader style with chain front and back — one chain has a vermeil piece at the end that threads through the ear lobe.

Labradorite is prized for its mysterious, swirling blue, gray and green layers of beauty. Brilliant faceting and fine polishing bring out the shimmering qualities of the irregularly shaped stones and shiny brass settings offset their color. The pendant necklace, with brass chain, is also set with a lovely, smaller faceted aquamarine stone.

Kyan Collection

The strikingly colored mineral, kyanite, is aptly named for a Greek word that means deep blue. The columnar natural shape of the crystals lends itself especially well to rectangular forms. We've used a graduating series of crystals to create polished brass-bezeled ladder designs on a pendant necklace, bracelet and earrings. A matching pair of kyanite rectangles is set into polished brass bezels with sterling silver posts.

Modern Tribal Collection

This collection of jewelry made from brass is inspired by tribal jewelry traditions from around the globe and updated for contemporary style. A pair of earrings and necklace with a carved fish bone motif rendered in brass has a graceful, narrow fringe of dangling brass bars. Simple satin-finished brass discs adorn necklaces in a bib or long chain style and pairs of dangling or hoop earrings. A charm necklace with a brass Ethiopian Coptic cross has round brass and faceted green amethyst charms on a necklace of jade heishi beads accented with faceted brass beads. Two different beaded necklaces are made from combinations of brass and dark oxidized brass beads in varied shapes; the longer necklace can be worn doubled. Lovely crescent-shaped brass sheet discs are satin-finished and hand-stamped on both sides with subtle dotted rays.

Antlers & Feathers

Deer antlers and feathers have a long history of use in decorative arts, and we designed these jewelry pieces in that tradition. Detailed, realistic looking antlers and feathers are hand-carved from cow bone and paired with warm brass fittings. Our handsome, adjustable Talisman Bone Antler Necklace, with layered chains, may be worn long or doubled with the oversized J hook closure on the front. Another style of antler necklace encircles a small bone antler tip with a brass ring setting on a brass chain. Precisely carved bone feathers are set in brass in a pendant necklace and earrings. Ear wires on earrings are gold-plated brass.

Cast Stacking Collection

We compiled an extensive collection of jewelry pieces that induces an intense craving to wear them in profusion. Our uniquely shaped necklaces, rings and earrings are hand-cast in brass using an ancient lost wax technique and then plated with silver and gold. Three distinct groupings of mixed metal necklaces, some with a smattering of embedded zircons, beg to be layered. A trio of tiny gold or silver-plated zircon necklaces hang from matching chains. All five groupings of necklaces are priced individually and sold in mixed case packs of three different styles.

Anatolia Collection

Our Anatolia Collection features Faden quartz, which we selected for its unusual crystal structure and distinctive organic shape. Faden is a German word meaning thread, and this mineral derives its name from the white, thread-like inclusions that permeate the clear crystals through a complex process that takes place as each crystal grows. Our warm brass vine-like claw and open-back bezel settings harness the beauty of each uniquely shaped quartz crystal in a statement-making choker and ring. Stone shapes and sizes on these pieces will naturally vary somewhat and each will be unique.

Mikayla Collection

We love the contrasts in a collection designed with mixed metals and silhouettes. The Mikayla pieces combine sculptural dagger and circle shapes rendered in warm brass and cool rhodium. A hammered brass dagger pendant is embellished with nine tiny brilliant zircons and hangs from a rhodium-plated brass chain; an unadorned, hammered dagger and loop finish the ends of a rhodium-plated chain lariat. A svelte brass cuff is meant to be worn with the opening in front—the ends are sprinkled with the tiny light-catching zircons. Hammered, unembellished earrings are slender, slightly curved brass daggers on sterling posts. For those who prefer dangling earrings, we offer two styles: rhodium-plated brass hoops with a cascade of swinging chains, and brass daggers embedded with petite zircon stones suspended from brass hoops. A graceful, hammered coil ring is also enhanced with the sparkle of zircons.

Lapis Collection

Lapis lazuli is a gemstone that has been revered through the ages for its deep radiant blue color. Our Neela Lapis Pendant Necklace sets a smooth oval of striated lapis into a simple brass bezel, while the lapis and gold fill Liquid Bead Necklace drapes nicely in a long, languid strand. The lapis and brass Neela Faceted Plate Bracelet is designed with an unexpected offset stone. Tiny hand-cut beads of precious lapis lazuli are accented with golden rutiled quartz, turquoise and a variety of brass beads in our Sarisang Multi-Strand Necklace. Deep blue lapis heishi beads are accented with faceted brass beads in brass "peapod" earrings with gold-plated brass ear wires.

Art Nouveau flair meets contemporary style in our Tara Chrysoprase Collection. ## Tabasco Geode Collection

Rare Tabasco geodes, found exclusively in this Mexican state on the Caribbean Coast, are the smallest geodes on earth. We hand-select each of these glittering little gems with an eye for the most sparkling of crystal pockets. No two are alike, and colors will range from light to pastel to dark. Shiny, slender, gold-plated brass is hand-formed into delicate hammered cuffs — one with geodes on each end of the front opening, another adorned with a single geode — perfect for stacking in multiples. Delicate gold-plated brass chains suspend single geodes in two sizes and are perfect for layering. Earring options abound with single or double geodes on drop earrings or single geode post earrings. Tiny geode rings stack sweetly; a large geode ring can pair with the simple hammered bands.

Peapod Earrings

Herkimer "diamonds" are naturally brilliant and smooth quartz crystals that have beautiful clarity and two naturally "faceted" ends — a rare crystal form known as double-termination. Tiny Herkimers are nestled in hammered brass wire settings in a pair dangling earrings. Two other pairs of peapod earrings feature faceted pyrite or slightly iridescent midnight blue spinel beads. Ear wires are gold-plated brass.

Crystal Point Collection

The name "quartz" is derived from a Greek word for ice, because it was thought that quartz was ice formed by the gods. Hexagonal prisms with pyramidal ends, these naturally-formed crystal points from Brazil provide a cool contrast to warm, high-copper brass metalwork. A dramatic row of quartz points is the centerpiece of a multi-gauge chain necklace. Single crystal earrings are looped and knotted on earwires, while small double-terminated crystals are delicately encircled in brass on sterling silver post earrings. A crystal drop necklace and earrings have a brass caliper setting. A single quartz "icicle" swings from a brass trapeze necklace with a pyrite nugget accent. A beautiful and unusual lariat loops a crystal point dangling from a pyrite bead accented chain through a polished occa geode slice.

Mini Crystal Geodes

Herkimer Diamond Collection

With unusual clarity, rare double-termination and eighteen natural facets so smooth and brilliant they don't need polishing, these naturally-occurring quartz crystals were first discovered in the late 18th century and thought to be diamonds. Our artisan jewelers set these sparklers in sterling silver prong settings that reference the past with an antiqued finish. Earrings and solitaire ring feature artisan shaped prong settings.

A Plethora of Post Earrings

Thirteen pairs of post earrings made from gold-plated silver come in a variety of designs: Faceted sapphires are set into a simple carved detail bar. Two sizes of cameos are hand-carved in Italy from conch shell. Faceted oval rubies are set into simple prong settings. Square drusy post earrings are made from an emerald-colored green garnet known as Uvarovite. Twisted spirals, starbursts, horseshoes and X's are all pleasing post earring shapes. Round earrings are set with faceted natural blue sapphires; V-shaped tubes have small sapphires set into the end of each tube. White button pearls are set into petal-shaped cups. Gold-plated bars with triangular ends sparkle with pavé diamonds.

Kya Herkimer Collection

The Kya Collection is hand-crafted from pretty square-shaped brass wire formed into jewelry pieces with prong settings that delicately grasp diamond-like Herkimer quartz crystals. An adjustable cuff and ring both have pairs of Herkimer crystals on either end of the front opening; the Herkimers on the cuff are different size stones for a bit of asymmetry. Hoop earrings have single Herkimers set into the pronged front end.

Patisse Drusy Collection

Like French gelée confections encrusted with sugar, our Brazilian drusies in crisp white or lovely pink sparkle enticingly. The stones are cut into rectangular shapes and set into satin-finished brass settings in our Patisse collection. The pink drusies are particularly rare and the color tones will vary from pinkish gray to pale raspberry. Necklaces with stones set vertically or horizontally have brass chains; drop earrings have gold-plated brass ear wires.

Brass Clothespins & Display Cable

Solid brass clothespins have a plethora of uses: they clasp signs, tags or photos on our Display Cable, the larger ones are fun paperweights on a desk, and the mini is sized to hang from our Linear Display Stands. The clothespins are made from solid brass with steel springs. Our 4-foot long braided stainless steel Display Cable has brass clamps that can be adjusted to shorten the cable; includes six mini clothespins.

Brass Rod Jewelry Stands & Steel Ring Block

Brass Charms & Symbols

Our artful collection of charms and symbols is hand-cast in brass. A playful sunray design is the perfect form for a ring, necklace and pair of post earrings. The evil eye is a popular talisman in many cultures and is said to protect its wearer from mysterious curses. Our Evil Eye Pendant Necklace, with its sparkling blue sapphire eye, is the ideal length to layer with the longer Sunray Necklace. The cast brass crescent moon and star charms make appealing necklaces. Post earrings have sterling silver posts. A case pack of rings includes two each of sizes 6, 7 and 8.
